

Ready to Launch...

Toilet roll timelines!

Are you a Home Explorer?

- Make a 3D model of Stonehenge
- Create a 3D model of Skara Brae outside using stones
- Visit Butser Ancient Farm
- Write a diary entry for someone living in a community
- Research some of the tools that were used and decide which you think was most useful

Would you prefer to live in the Stone Age, Bronze Age or Iron Age?

Expert knowledge:

- In the Neolithic era, people began to live in groups known as communities. Skara Brae is an example of this
- During the Iron Age, people began to live in community groups called tribes led by a king or chief. Tribes usually lived around hill forts.
- Goods like bronze and copper were traded for other items and this was called bartering
- Archaeologists are historians who learn about the past by recovering buildings, graves and other objects from the past
- The Amesbury Archer was one of the most significant historical discoveries in Europe and his grave is three miles from Stonehenge

Time to celebrate!

Museum guide

Wow moments

- Toilet roll timelines
- Pre-history museum of ECS